

STORAGE VISIONS[®] 2007 CONFERENCE

AN ENTERTAINMENT STORAGE ALLIANCESM EVENT

Rich Gadomski, Vice President, Marketing, Recording Media Division, Fujifilm U.S.A., Inc.

Biography

Rich Gadomski is Vice President, Marketing, Recording Media Division, Fujifilm U.S.A., Inc. Appointed in May 2004, Gadomski is responsible for marketing, product planning, sales promotion, advertising, public relations and strategic long-term planning for the division.

Gadomski joined Fujifilm in 2003 as Director of Product Management, Computer Products Division where he oversaw marketing and distribution of optical, magnetic and flash storage products. Before joining the company, Gadomski was director of marketing for Maxell Corp. of America where he was responsible for marketing of data storage products. He also held several national marketing and sales positions while with Maxell. Prior to that, Gadomski worked with the Recording Media Products Division of Sony Electronics.

Gadomski has participated in several industry trade associations, including the Quarter-Inch Cartridge Drive Standards Committee (QIC), the Optical Storage Technology Association (OSTA), the Linear Tape-Open Consortium (LTO) and the Tape Council. He has also authored several articles on future technology trends in data storage that have appeared in publications including Computer Technology Review, Storage Magazine, InfoStor and Storage Management Systems.

Gadomski is often quoted in industry publications and business magazine such as Storage Magazine and InfoStor, and speaks frequently at conferences and tradeshows, including a panel on optical technology at CES 2005.

Rich holds a BA from the University of Richmond and an MBA from Fordham University. He lives in West Milford, New Jersey with his wife and three children.