Rana Kabir, CEO, FlashBridge

BIOGRAPHY

Rana N Kabir, CEO/CTO - has 20+ years experience in Sales and Information Technology Systems as well as developing Corporate Network Infrastructures. Kabir is the founder & owner of ENDS Technologies which is the holding umbrella for a number of business consulting firms based out of MD & VA. Kabir specializes in the development and execution of business plans with emphasis towards using technology for efficiency and competitiveness. Owning and operating technology companies, integrating current technologies with legacy systems, developing corporate networks, leading businesses to develop better enterprise-wide integration solutions through the use of technology along with 25+ years of industry resources, contacts, and success, Kabir is able to isolate needs, determine actions to be taken, lead and motivate a team while communicating results through industry specific reporting. Kabir has also successfully served as the CTO of a number of local firms with extremely favorable results. In this capacity Kabir was the driving factor behind Aldana & Associates, the 2001 recipient of SBA's National Small Business Advocate of the year award, presented by President George W Bush in a White House reception. Kabir's skills are leadership, owning responsibility, direct communication, and experience. Part of Kabir's motivation is to foster an environment which will promote further professional growth while contributing something towards the greater good of humanity. Kabir believes that any entity, corporate or otherwise must have a strong sense of community and must contribute to improve the standards of humanity, therefore continuously seeking to align himself with people, projects, and resources to enable this transformation.
