

Jim Harrison, Senior Technical Editor, Electronics Products Magazine

BIOGRAPHY

Senior Technical Editor, Mr. Harrison has been an editor with Electronics Products Magazine, for more than 11 years. Jim covers digital & analog integrated circuits, computer peripherals, software design, and single board computer technologies. Before that, Jim was the Chief Engineer of Lincoln Engineering, a consulting firm specializing in electronic component engineering. Prior to this, Jim was a Manager at Nokia Broadband Systems Division in Petaluma, CA for five years, and then held the same position with Calix Networks. Mr. Harrison has held senior electronic design engineering and engineering management positions with industrial automation and scientific instrumentation companies since 1989.